Donor # 4133 Interview Notes

Immediately upon meeting this donor I was struck by his clean-cut good looks and his calm and assured demeanor. He was well groomed in khaki pants, white shirt and a tie. Donor 4133 has well styled short brown hair and large expressive hazel eyes. One could describe him as a classic, good-looking young doctor.

Donor 4133 is dedicated to his studies and his family life. Even though he always knew he wanted to be a doctor, he wasn't sure which kind. During high school he was given the opportunity to shadow a variety of doctors on their rounds, including an emergency room doctor and a surgeon. It wasn't until he met a chiropractor that he found an area of focus that he was passionate about. When the chiropractor told him that he could take one look at the way a person walks and pinpoint where they hurt and how they are misaligned Donor 4133 was intrigued. He wanted to be able to read the human body in such depth with just a glance. At age 27 this donor is now a chiropractic doctor and is in the first year of operating his own practice.

His dedication to working hard and pursuing goals is very apparent when speaking with this donor. He comes across as self-assured and driven; these traits verge on the edge of appearing pretentious. Regardless of this fact, he presents himself as an intelligent, engaging, and very well-spoken person. He has earned the nickname of "Doctor Donor" amongst the lab staff here at the bank.

When looking over donor 4133's narrative I was struck by his desire to consistently challenge himself and his love of the personal growth that this entails. He is the only member of his family to move out of the area in which he grew up. Donor 4133 has traveled and lived throughout the country in pursuit of love and continuing knowledge. This donor's ability to adapt and change to different environments and ideas is admirable. Despite living far away from his family, he remains close to them and visits on a regular basis.

All in all I would characterize donor 4133 as an articulate, driven, and well-developed young man who works hard to accomplish everything that he achieves in life. He obviously spends a lot of time considering his decisions and I can say with confidence that I believe he will fulfill all his commitments as an Identity-Release donor. It will be interesting to see what his life entails in the coming years.
