DONOR NARRATIVE: Donor 3521

Describe your personality (introvert, extrovert, funny, serious, goal-oriented, curious, etc.).

In a sense a sense, I am a geek. I play video games, don't need others company to be comfortable, know the real meaning of $E=mc^2$. Curiosity dominates my mind and drives any goals that I have. And while slightly introverted, I am extremely social compared to my fellow engineers. I take care of my appearance and considered a "good" dresser. I always try new experiences, eat everything on my plate, and not afraid of the unknown. A romantic at heart, and serious with a dry-sarcastic humor. My friends and family are the most important thing to me. I tend to be aggressive/competitive in daily life, but not sports and academics.

What are your special interests and talents?

I have strong interests in electronics and science. Science includes chemistry, physics, but not biology or medicine. I've inherited my parents' physical skills, but never truly put it to use. Lots of knowledge of computers, I can do almost anything with them.

How would you describe your enjoyment of and skills in the following areas:

math: I've always been strong in math and when it involves the physical world, I LOVE it. But when it's abstract and theoretical (i.e. proofs), I will hate it. Calculus is the best part of math.

mechanical: I wasn't the kid that took apart the toaster, instead I messed around with computers. Although, I enjoy mechanical problems, find them interesting, I do not go searching for them.

athletic: For 16 years of my life, I keep my athletic abilities under wraps, mainly due to how well my parents are in sports. I've done speed skating, and tennis, getting good but not great due to lack of ambitions. I'm now involved in skiing, and it's a completely different story, I excel and pursuit it will full fever.

musical, artistic, creative: No musical talent, tried piano, got frustrated with note sheet. I was VERY good artist in middle school, especially with photo-realism, but didn't nurture that skill, and now I'm rather incompetent. I would say mildly creative, overall.

language (what languages do you speak?): I am fluent in French/ English.

What are your goals and ambitions in life?

I've ranged from becoming an astronaut to being a VP. I have always been motivated in academics and in turn I have the goal to become involved in some advance research for electronics, leaving a mark on the field, and co-starting my own company. Also want a family and two kids.

Why do you want to be a sperm donor?

For two reasons. One: My curiosity lead me, as always, to go find out more about the experience and in turn, more about myself, due to the test results; but also explore my own morals and emotions on the subject. Two: It's nice to have some spare money.

Did you choose to be an identity-release donor? yes no. Why did you make this choice?

I just thought that if I were the child, I would certainly want to find out more about my donor. As well as my own curiosity of how the child has turned out, and how much of him/her is part of me.

What message would you like us to pass on to the people who are getting your sperm?

I was raised in a very loving, open, and accepting family. I hope that you can provide the same for your child. Best of luck!
