Donor #3030
Interview Notes

Donor 3030 came across as mature and humble during our interview. He seems to have a good understanding of his family health history, and was willing to answer my questions in detail. Donor 3030 presents himself with self-confidence, however, he also has a slightly shy, private side.

Donor 3030 is currently enrolled in a four-year business and marketing BA program, and expressed interest in pursuing an MBA with the goal of working in real estate or perhaps investment banking, like his father. However, he also expressed interest in medical school and might try to complete a double major in both pre-med and business. Both of his parents are highly educated and successful in their professional lives, which seems to have influenced donor 3030's drive to succeed in everything he takes on.

Donor 3030 has started a car consulting firm with a friend, and hopes to keep it going, even if it just turns into a business hobby. He is also interested in movies and film making. When donor 3030 was in high school, he lived with his uncle in Tennessee for his junior year. He explained that it was set up as an independence and growth experience, and he enjoyed living in a different part of the country for a year.

Donor 3030 seems close with his family. While he hasn't shared with his parents that he is a donor, his younger sister and many of his friends know. He was able to get bountiful information from his parents about his family health history background. Donor 3030 stated that he looks more like his mother, while his sister looks more like their father. His parents met through working at a bank. Donor 3030's father has always done a fair amount of traveling for business, and the donor often went along on the international trips.

Donor 3030 has beautiful, striking features. His mouth is small, but with full lips. His eyes turn down slightly at the outside corners, with lovely crinkles when he smiles. His skin is a creamy light brown, and it looks like he tans well. His features are well balanced and attractive. Overall, donor 3030 came across as a charming young man who will succeed in whatever he takes on.
