3559 told a TSBC staff member that he was born in California, but has deep family roots in Mexico and Columbia. His grandparents own and maintain a 400 acre farm and ranch in Mexico, and the property has been in the family for many generations. When speaking of visiting his grandparents and cousins at the family ranch, his eyes sparkle with pride and enthusiasm. I could tell he thought very highly of his elders and the line of work so intertwined with his own heritage. He is quite close to his parents and his three sisters. As a child, he loved to help his father tinker on various projects, especially fixing and maintaining cars. He fondly remembers his mother cooking authentic Mexican food for the whole family. His sisters all have varied interests ranging from running to mechanical engineering to playing the violin. He is particularly close to his second sister, who has always looked up to him as her protective "big brother."
