Donor # 4412 Interview Notes

Donor 4412 is darkly handsome with deep olive colored skin that is practically flawless. His thick black hair has a boyishly messy, bed head sort of look to it that goes well with his dark fanned-out eyebrows. His ears stick out a bit, his nose is straight and narrow at the tip and all of his features are perfectly proportioned and symmetrical. The focal point of his face is his large dark eyes, framed by long black lashes. He also had deep dimples and a slight blush that shows up when he laughs.

He came to our interview wearing a button down, checkered flannel shirt in warm earth tones, stylish, fitted black jeans that were perfectly hemmed and streamlined black tennis shoes. His look was very well put together, clean and fresh. He is a dead ringer for the actor Sal Mineo in Rebel Without a Cause. Here are some links with photos him-

Having just graduated from school with a major in political science, donor 4412 has taken a year long internship at a non-profit. He doesn't quite have a hold on what he'd like to do with his education, and he doesn't seem to be in a rush to figure it out. In his narrative he does talk about pursuing a Ph. D. in development economics and creative writing with the hopes of having his work published. He talked about being very close to his family, and adjusting to them moving away to the Midwest and having the same group of friends that he has had since childhood.

Donor 4412 is young but seems very self aware. He has an internal humility that comes out when he talks and, conversely, a bit of coyness as well. I think he will be a great donor and wonderful addition to the program.
