DONOR NARRATIVE: Donor # 4425

Describe your personality (introvert, extrovert, funny, serious, goal-oriented, curious, etc.).

I would say that my defining characteristic is an insatiable stubborn desire to understand the world. I am introverted and contemplative person who loves learning. I love to see how everything interacts from physics to psychology, from world affairs to the person walking down the street next to me. I am very ambitious and can expect too much from others when I want them to be just as ambitious. I place a high value on my friends which has given me a few very special friendships. I won't be the life of the party but I will be there to help you out when you're in need. If you know the Myers- Briggs test I am the INFJ typology.

What are your special interests and talents?

My passion for the majority of my adult life has been traveling. My parents took me on many trips when I was young and this built a passion for travel in me that I am still trying to appease. I love to see how the other people live and how other societies organize their values. I believe this observation of other communities has given me a solid understanding of relationships in business and politics. I love building enthusiasm in people and getting them to want to know and understand more about their communities. This may lead me into politics but I am still evaluating my life options.

How would you describe your enjoyment of and skills in the following areas?

Math: I have been above average in math since I was young and do enjoy the understanding and organization that math can bring in the world.

Mechanical: I grew up playing with Legos, Erector sets and K'nex. I became very spatially and mechanically oriented. I enjoy and respect engineering but my love lies in understanding space which led me to urban planning.

Athletic: I was lucky enough to have my parents push me into playing sports as a child. I now have a great respect for what exercise can bring to a person's character. I am active in volleyball, yoga and hope to be doing martial arts and salsa dancing too.

Musical, artistic, creative: I have never been very artistic and have trouble expressing myself in creative methods. I do however have a strong love for music and art. I believe that art is continually one of the greatest human achievements.

Language (what languages besides English do you speak?): Slightly conversational in German and Swahili.

What are your goals and ambitions in life?

I want to see the world and experience it so thoroughly that I feel at home anywhere. I have been to 4 continents and dozens of countries but still I am nowhere near my travel desires. I would also at some point like to open a restaurant and a youth hostel. I believe the people you meet at hostels are some of the most interesting on the planet and that a restaurant would be a great way for me to express myself through business. Recently I have become more interested in politics so my life may go down a path of community activism very soon.

Why do you want to be a sperm donor?

I believe a person who has proven they have created a stable and beautiful life has every right to raise a child if they so choose. Creating a child is wondrous but raising a child and nurturing that child is the true test of a person's love for life. I believe that donating my sperm will help to create children who grow in loving homes and become loving people.

Did you choose to be an identity-release donor? Yes No

Why did you make this choice?

In 18 years I believe I will be a person this child will want to know and that the child will be a person I want to know.

What message would you like us to pass on to the people who are getting your sperm?

Respect your child. Provide every opportunity to them that you can imagine but let them choose their path. Allow them to learn from their mistakes rather than protecting them from harm. Do not forget that your child is their own person and will not have the same values as yourself. Let them experience the world at their own pace and through their eyes. Show your child a passion for love and life that would make this world a more beautiful place to live and they will grow up to be a beautiful person.
