DONOR NARRATIVE: Donor # 4452

Describe your personality: introvert, extrovert, funny, serious, goal-oriented, curious, shy, etc.

I would describe myself as an extrovert. People usually call me gregarious and say that I have a very sharp wit, which I use daily. When it comes to friends, family and other personal relationships, I am very laid back and easy going. When it comes to my professional life I would say I am goal oriented. I do set lofty goals for myself and I expect to achieve them. I am also very competitive. Growing up (and even to this day) my brother and I would devise new games daily for no other reason but to compete. I try to balance the professional and the leisure so that I get the most out of life.

What are your interests and talents?

I love politics, athletics and music. In high school I was a state champion debater and an all state-baseball player. I also represented the USA in baseball as a teenager. When my baseball career ended I focused on my other talents and that was constructing and deconstructing arguments. I plan on going to law school after I finish my bachelor's degree. I love the competitiveness of being a lawyer in the courtroom and of building a solid case. I also enjoy discussing politics and various political theories seeing how they are could be applicable to the real world. When it comes to music, I'm not very talented at any instrument but I do listen to everything from classical Bach to the current top 40.

What are some of your goals and ambitions in life? Where do you see yourself in 5 or 10 years?

I have ambitions to attend an Ivy League law school after I graduate from college and then getting a job as District Attorney in a major U.S. city. After doing that for a few years I would like to run for office-starting at the state level and then moving onto the national level. In five years I see myself graduating from Harvard and in ten years I see myself running for California State Assembly.

How would you describe your skills and interests in the following areas?

Math: This is not where my strength lie. I would like to learn more about math and become better at it than I currently am.

Mechanical: I'm not the best, but I have changed the oil, battery, and alternator and fixed other minor problems in the vehicles I've owned.

Athletic: Definitely one of my strengths. Since high school and even today- I still play basket ball, tennis, baseball and other sports. I enjoy pretty much every sport out there.

Musical, Artistic, Creative: For the most part I am a left brained person. My strengths generally lie in the analytical aspects of life but I do have strong creative side. For example, my work commissions me monthly to come up with catchy slogans to increase sales. I have also written and performed some stand up routines that I did at a comedy club in Southern California.

Language (what languages besides English do you speak?): I am currently in the process of learning Farsi and Spanish. I took Latin in high school and scored Magna Cum Laude on a National Latin Exam.

Writing: I would consider myself a strong writer. Not necessarily in the creative sense like novels, short stories, etc. but more along the lines of social commentary and research papers. At my old college I had a few articles published in the college newspaper.

Literature: I love to read. It took me a while to recognize my love for reading but now I am constantly on new books. I've read Aristotle's Politics, Che Guevara's Guerilla Warfare, the Bhagavad-Gita and many more in just this past year.

Science: Although I have a lot to learn in the subject I do enjoy it. Definitely more on the life science side like biology. I am very interested in how life develops and how different organisms react with one another.

If you were stranded on a deserted island and could only have one book, one movie and one album, what would they be?

Movie: The Boondock Saints

Book: Wilderness Survival Guide
by Gregory Davenport - so I could try and get off the island.

Album: Sublime's Sublime

What are some of your reasons for becoming a sperm donor?

I know that having children is a lifelong dream for some people and for one reason or the other they cannot make this dream come true via the traditional way. I decided to become a sperm donor so that loving adults could complete their family with the addition of a child. It makes me happy to know that I could help someone achieve their dream

Did you choose to be an Identity-Release® Program donor? Yes No

Why did you make this choice?

I feel it is the offspring's right to know where they came from genetically. I know if I came from a donor I would want to know certain things about him that cannot come from the profile.

Is there anything else you would like to share with participating families and offspring?

First and foremost I would like to comment on your decision to bring a child into a loving household. There are definitely too many children who are neglected, abused and a score of other atrocities. I just want you to know that, if my genes have anything to say, you will get a child who loved life and their family, a child who will have a passion for learning and a drive to succeed. I wish you the best of luck in your journey to becoming a parent and I believe you have made a great decision.
