Donor # 3941
Interview Notes

Donor # 3941 has a very upbeat, outgoing and confident personality. He was wearing casual athletic clothing and seemed very comfortable in his own skin. He maintained good posture during our interview. He had darling dimples on both cheeks, appeared very clean cut and well groomed. His green/hazel eyes were clear and had a hint of a sparkle to them. All of his facial features were clearly defined, refined and angular. His skin was clear and tanned. Although his appearance was still on the boyish side, the answers to his questions matured him. At times his confidence bordered on cockiness. He was quite confident of his good looks, even commenting that he was sure any recipient offspring would be attractive as well.

Throughout the interview, donor 3941 talked of his commitment to healthy living and eating. He seemed very aware of which foods were needed to stay healthy and which to avoid. He even talked about how he wished he could eat less processed sugars. Donor 3941 enjoys many thrill seeking activities, such as skateboarding, BMX bicycling, motorcycling, dirt biking, and roller-blading. On the other hand he deeply cherishes his connection to music, often commenting on his mother's 'effortless singing' and his father's 'musical brilliance'. He spoke of his delicate ear for music and harmony and his hope for any offspring resulting from his donations to be surrounded by music.

Donor 3941 mentioned that he had a difficult time focusing on his homework when he was a child. He was never diagnosed with any type of hyperactivity but he did make a point to tell us that this was a challenge for him when he was younger. This feeling of being "hyper focused" was outgrown as he entered adulthood.

Overall, donor 3941 comes across as a very self confident individual, with an enthusiasm for sports, love for music and a determination to succeed.
