Donor # 4411 Interview Notes

Donor 4411 is exceedingly handsome and could easily model for a men's magazine. In my opinion he is one of the best looking donors I have seen in my time here. He came to our interview wearing baby blue basketball shorts with white stripes down the side, a light grey hoodie over a white cotton t-shirt, and light grey running shoes. His dark, thick black hair was covered with a baseball hat turned backwards. Built like a basketball player, his long frame is fit and well proportioned. His thick, long eye lashes frame his eyes making him look like he was wearing eyeliner. Donor 4411 face and skin were flushed and rosy as if he were just coming in from a run. His smile is absolutely infectious and lights up his face with happiness. I found it difficult not to smile with him. He has full lips and lovely teeth very much like the actor Taylor Lautner. I would say that he looks like a mix of Taylor Lautner and Josh Brolin (circa The Goonies).

Donor 4411's youthful exuberance fits perfectly with his love of sports. He grew up in a family of athletes, sports being an important part of everyone's life. His father was a semi-professional soccer player, his mother a skier and cyclist. His sister is a competitive gymnast and recently began diving. Growing up, his dad taught him to play soccer although he really wanted to play more American sports like baseball and football. Since then, he has returned to soccer as his main love and added on motor cross. He laughed adding that his dad still played old guy soccer. His mom is still an active bike rider.

I asked him what he planned to do with his business degree and he said he had no idea and then laughed at himself. At some point in the future he wants to have his own restaurant or some other type of business. All he knows, he says, is that he doesn't want to have a boss. Donor 4411 possessed an inner light that seemed to radiate from him. His utter lack of ego or vanity is refreshing. He is energized and excited about life in general and enthusiastic to share stories about his life and family. He can quite simply be described as a breath of fresh air.
